This "refined" Cape May "tradition" may be done up in "charming" Victorian style, but its "quite good" Traditional American cooking is decidedly "21st century" and draws a "polo-shirt" and "driving-mocs" crowd; "impeccable" service, nightly piano music and "hard-to-beat" early-bird deals make this a "throwback in a positive way."

A "beautiful, very Cape May house" provides the "traditional setting" for this "gorgeous little" "favorite" that's "perfect" for dining on "well-prepared" American "classics" whose prices offer relative "good value" for the location; a "beautiful old bar" with a nightly piano player adds "another nice touch", as does downright "excellent" service.
